

BILLIARD CUE CAPABLE OF ADJUSTING WEIGHT AND CENTER OF GRAVITY THEREOF

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

5 A billiard cue has a shaft consisted of a first section and a rear section, wherein the rear section has a chamber. A bar is provided with a thread thereon and a stem at an end thereof. A weight adjuster has two first weight devices and second weight devices. The first weight devices each has a thread hole to be screwed onto the bar and the second device has a through hole to be fitted onto the bar and rest between 10 the first devices.